

Sports photo delivery & storage built for pro clubs.

No memory cards. No chasing photos. No more "can you send me that".

Matchday photo chaos is costing you hours.

Photos scattered across memory cards, WeTransfer links, and group chats. Nobody in control of who sees what. Every week the same manual scramble to get photos to players and staff.

What makes FrameWorks different

■ No AI, no biometric risk

Reads the player-tagging photographers already do in Lightroom, Photo Mechanic, or Capture One — works today, no computer-vision roadmap required.

■ A real editorial workflow

A private staging area means photos are reviewed before anyone sees them, not dumped raw the moment they're uploaded.

■ Built for a full season, not a drip feed

Engineered for the actual failure mode: a club uploading a season's worth of photos in one sitting.

■ Two taps, no account needed

Players get their photos on their phone in two taps — no app install, no login, no friction.

Who it's for

Professional sports clubs with a staff or contracted photographer generating real matchday volume, and a media team who need it organised, access-controlled, and delivered fast.
